I am Acer rubrum ‘Red Sunset’, but you can call me...

My leaves are a medium to dark green above and grayish to silvery beneath.
In the spring, I have reddish flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are orange to red.
I need full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...
I will be 45’ – 50’ tall and 35’ – 40’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.

---

Creating Canopy 2012

Spreading roots for a greener region
I am Betula nigra, but you can call me...

My leaves are a lustrous medium to dark green.
In the fall, my leaves are yellow.
I need full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...
I will be 40’ – 70’ tall and 40’ – 60’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Cercis canadensis, but you can call me...

My leaves are a dark green.
In the spring, I have reddish purple buds.
I also have rosy pink flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are yellow to yellow-green.
I need full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this...
I will be 20’ – 30’ tall and 25’ – 35’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Chionanthus virginicus, but you can call me...

My leaves are a medium to dark green and are often lustrous. From May to early June, I have white, slightly fragrant flowers. In the fall, my leaves are yellow to golden yellow. I need partial shade to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this... I will be up to 25’ – 30’ tall and have an equal spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size... Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html for any help you may need taking care of me.

Creating Canopy 2012

Spreading roots for a greener region
I am Cornus x ‘Rutgan’ Stellar Pink, but you can call me...

Stellar Pink Dogwood

My leaves are deep green. From spring to early summer, I have showy, pink flowers. In the fall, my leaves are purple to red. I need partial to full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this... I will be up to 20’ – 25’ tall and have an equal spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size... Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html for any help you may need taking care of me.

Creating Canopy 2012

Spreading roots for a greener region
I am Liriodendron tulipifera, but you can call me...

My leaves are a deep green.
In spring, I have greenish yellow flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are golden yellow to yellow.
I need partial to full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...
I will be 70’ – 90’ tall and 35’ – 50’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Nyssa sylvatica, but you can call me...

My leaves are a lustrous dark green. In spring, I have greenish yellow flowers. In the fall, my leaves are yellow to orange to red to purple. I need partial to full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this... I will be 30’ – 50’ tall and 20’ – 30’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size... Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Quercus alba, but you can call me...

White Oak

My leaves are a dark green.
In spring, I have greenish yellow flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are a rich red to brown.
I need full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...
I will be 50’ – 80’ tall and equal in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Carpinus caroliniana, but you can call me...

American Hornbeam

In early spring, I have greenish-white flowers.
My leaves are a dark, lustrous green.
In the fall, my leaves are yellow, orange, red and reddish purple.
I need partial to full shade to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this...
I will be 20’ – 30’ tall and have an equal spread

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.

---

Creating Canopy 2012
Spreading roots for a greener region
I am Celtis occidentalis, but you can call me...

Common Hackberry

My leaves are a medium green, with a pale, yellow-green underside. In the fall, my leaves are yellow to yellow-green. I also have small orangey-red fruit in the fall. In the winter, my fruit turns black.

I need partial to full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...

I will be 40’ – 60’ tall and have a near equal spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...

Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Cornus kousa ‘Satomi’, but you can call me...  Satomi Pink Japanese Dogwood

My leaves are a dark green.
In the summer, I have rosy pink flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are red.
I need full sun to light shade to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this...
I will be 15’ – 20’ tall and 12’ – 15’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.

---

Creating Canopy 2012
Spreading roots for a greener region
I am Liquidambar styraciflua, but you can call me...

My leaves are a dark, glossy green above and a paler green beneath. In the fall, my leaves are rich yellow-purple-red tones.

I need full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 40 years, I will look like this...

I will be 60’ – 75’ tall and 40’ – 50’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...

Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to

www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html

for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Prunus virginiana, but you can call me...

Native Chokecherry

My leaves are a dark green above and grayish green beneath.
In the spring, I have white flowers.
In the late summer, I have dark red to purple fruit.
In the fall, my leaves are rich yellow-purple-red tones.
I need partial shade to full sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this...
I will be 20’ – 30’ tall and 18’ – 25’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Quercus bicolor, but you can call me...

My leaves are a lustrous dark green above and below are grayish green and velvety. In the fall, my leaves are orangey-copper to red. I need part shade to full sun to grow my best.

When I grow up in about 40 years, I will look like this... I will be 50’ – 60’ tall and have an equal or greater spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size... Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html for any help you may need taking care of me.
I am Viburnum prunifolium, but you can call me...

My leaves are a dark green.
In May, I have creamy white flowers.
In the fall, my leaves are red to bronze.
I need partial sun to grow my best.

When I am grown up in about 20 years, I will look like this...
I will be 12’ – 15’ tall and 8’ – 12’ in spread.

Until then, when you pick me up, I will be approximately this size...
Please plant me within 2 days of getting me home and don’t forget to water me!

If you have any questions, go to
www.upenn.edu/sustainability/treegiveaway.html
for any help you may need taking care of me.

---

Creating Canopy 2012
Spreading roots for a greener region